Sandro Zulian is an actor, born in the Eastern-Swiss city of Saint Gallen. His first steps in the world of acting happened in school as well as in his gymnastics club. A 6-month language course in Vancouver, Canada and years of experience working as a reporter for one of the biggest radio stations in Switzerland have equipped him with the necessary high level of communication skills to handle challenging situations of all kinds.

The former journalist obtained his very first professional role through sheer luck. A young ambitious director recognised his exceptional ability to speak American English and offered him a voiceover role in a feature film.

Since then he visited a private acting school in Zurich and appeared in numerous commercials, short films and music videos. In 2017 he played a major role in the Swiss feature film "Rewind" which was later shown at several international film festivals. His experience also includes working with some of the biggest names in Swiss show business (e.g. Beat Schlatter, Walter Andreas Mueller).

After some years of acting on the side, he decided to turn his passionate hobby into his profession. Sandro moved to London in February 2019 and has since been able to play in a music video and various short films. He was also able to lend his voice to a character in a Hollywood film (tba).
